School board race heats up

Adair Ag Alliance supports write-in candidate

The Adair County School Board race is heating up.

William “Bill” Steele, a member of the Adair Ag Alliance, filed Tuesday as a write-in candidate for the school board in the upcoming election.

Steele will run against current school board member Mike Harris in District 5. He decided to run because of the current state of test scores in the school district.

“Each and every year our test scores continue to decline,” Steele said. “As the father of three children in this school district I want my children to have the same education as surrounding counties.”

William “Bill” Steele

Westlake health fair returns

The Westlake Regional Hospital Health Fair returns this year in a scaled-down version but will continue to offer the ever-popular health screening.

The health screening will be available for $12 and will provide more than 30 different analyses, including a complete blood count, chemistry profile and cholesterol and thyroid profile. Blood will be drawn from a person's arm for the tests, with tests valued at more than $300.

In addition, a PSA cancer screen is available and recommended for men over 50 or men with a family history of prostate cancer, who have had a vasectomy or are African American. The PSA costs an additional $8.

Due to time constraints, exhibits will not be set up this year.

Dave Rasmussen, CEO of Westlake, said the schedule didn't allow for putting together a complete health fair but hospital officials want to make sure the community has the opportunity to have the health screening. Thousands of people take part in the annual blood draw.

“We didn't think we would be able to pull it off and get everything done for a complete health fair but we intend to bring it back next year,” Rasmussen said.

The Health Fair blood draws will be held from Tuesday, Oct. 16 through Friday, Oct. 19 and again on Saturday, Oct. 27. Screenings will be conducted at Westlake Regional Hospital each day from 6:30 a.m. until 9 a.m. except on Saturday, Oct. 27, when hours will be extended until 10:30 a.m.

More details will be provided in next week's edition.

Band boosters to open bingo hall

It's Bingo time for Adair County. The Adair County High School Marching Band is re-opening the old bingo hall for business beginning Oct. 9.

The band boosters will hold bingo nights at the old bingo hall, which used to be operated by the rescue squad, at 50 Shady Ln. on Tuesdays and Fridays starting at 5 p.m.

Band boosters president David Herbst said the bingo nights will help provide fundraising for the music education program for the Adair County Band. It will help provide funds from year to year, he said.

Although the boosters plan to use the bingo nights as a large portion of their fundraising, they will still host events such as the Mark Twain Festival and still offer raffles throughout the year.

Prices for bingo cards vary depending on why type of bingo card someone buys, according to Herbst. Prices range anywhere from $5 to $15 a card. That card can be used all night.

Doors open at 5 p.m. with the early bird bingo beginning at 6 p.m. and regular bingo at 7 p.m.

They will also have different payouts at the end of each night depending on attendance. With attendance over 125, the payout begins at $3,800 for the entire night and with attendance under 125, it tops out at $2,400.

Marching band wins first competition

The Adair County High School Marching Band began its season with a grand champion win at the Eastern High School Eagle Classic on Saturday. The band won first place in the Class AAA division and grand champion, also winning in each category of best music, color guard and percussion. “It was a great start to the season, but we know there is still a lot of work to do,” said band director Tom Case. The band will compete in the BOA regional competition on Saturday in Louisville.

High school ACT scores rank 189 in state

ACT scores at the local high school have been a hot topic over the past month.

The Green County Record Herald reported in its Sept. 5 issue that Adair County is ranked 189th out of 230 high schools in the state.

The Community Voice analyzed ACT data from the Kentucky Department of Education that aligns with the same results released by Green County. There are no official state rankings from the Kentucky Department of Education as of yet.

Out of 230 high schools (169 school districts), Adair County's ACT composite score ranked on the low end at 189 with a score of 17.5.

Six other high schools in the state have the same score, including Bullitt Central High, Fleming County High, Harlan County High, Magoffin County High and Perry County Central High.

The No. 1 ranking school is Dupont Manual High with a composite score of 25.7 and the lowest ranking school is Iroquois High with a composite score of 14.7. Both schools are in the Jefferson County Public School District.

Adair County High School scores were 16 in English, 18.2 in math, 17.4 in reading and 18 in science with a 17.5 composite score for the 2011-2012 school year.

Scores in each subject dropped compared to previous years.

Adair Ag Alliance Chairman,
Greg Corbin

Steele said things need to change in the school district. "It needs a new direction," Steele said. "That direction does happen to do with ag. Ag is one of the largest occupations in this county."

Steele is a part of a new community organization called the Adair Ag Alliance, which was formed after the recent cut in the ag education program at the high school. "It seems like we're not making any progress," Steele said. "I decided that I couldn't continue to comment on it if I didn't stick my neck out."

Steele and his wife Sarah have three boys, Bryce, 14; Treyton, 11; and Aaron, 9 in the Adair County school system. His family owns and operates Kentucky Tie and Lumber. "I just want to set an example, as a father, on the value of education," Steele said. In order to vote for Steele, voters have to write his name in for school board "District 5." Voters can write "William Steele" or "Bill Steele" on the ballot. His name has to be written correctly in order for the vote to count. Adair Ag Alliance chairman Greg Corbin said he is glad to see that voters have a choice on the ballot when it comes to school board members. "We're proud of Bill and we're happy to give him support," Corbin said. "We have confidence in his determination. He wants to do what's best for the kids in Adair County. He's all in. He will be strong and not pushed around."

Corbin said even though Steele is a part of the ag alliance he will not be representing the group or under the influence of the group if he were to be elected. "We don't own him," Corbin said. "We want to support him. But once he's in, he's his own man."

money. "We have been in discussion with Chester Taylor to fill the Ag position," the ag alliance group stated in the email. "We understand the need in the VO-AG shop area and feel he is the person to reorganize and reestablish the shop as it should be. We ask for your help in getting this done, and fulfilling the promises to the students who had already enrolled in these classes."

Reed said in an interview Tuesday there are certain procedures that have to be followed before the donation could occur.

"I did receive an email written on behalf of the Adair ag Alliance indicating they had been in discussion with a named individual," Reed said. "However, it is up to the Ag Alliance to establish itself as a legal entity and to write grant stipulations. After that the decision to pursue the grant relies under the domain of the site-based council. On top of that you can't name someone for the job. The job has to be posted."

Reed said KRS 160.345 indicates that the council would have to pick from a group of qualified applicants for the position. The Adair Ag Alliance is currently working to form the group as a legal entity. "What we are going to have to do is say 'here's the money' and hope for the best," Corbin said. "We're willing to pay. We just need them to remove the roadblocks and make it happen."

“I am very disappointed that our scores are as low as they are and there is plenty of blame to go around,” said Superintendent Alan Reed. “What this is going to mean is that we have to look at classes and student performance. We have to track students from elementary up to high school. We have to know what every student is doing regularly and track it.”

Reed commended Principal Robbie Harmon at Adair County Elementary School for its “response to intervention” program. ACES school administrators keep track of each student’s progress using learning checks on a special presentation board.

Reed plans to look at ways to apply the same concept at other schools in the district.

“That is what is going to have to happen in every school we have,” Reed said.

While Adair County is ranked 189, other schools in surrounding counties rank anywhere from 56 to 93 with the exception of Russell County, which ranks at 162, and Campbellsville Independent, which ranks at 141.

“We can’t continue to run a school district that is not competitive with students that are going to have to go to college,” Reed said, “... and then have to take a semester or entire year of remediation. Somebody is going to have to pay for (those classes).”

According to data released from the ACT organization, only 13 percent of Adair County juniors who took the test last year meet all four benchmarks in English, math, science and reading. The state average is 17.

“According to the data, only 13 percent are ready for college work,” Reed said.

Instructional Supervisor Phyllis Curry is hard at work trying to find ways to help improve the ACT scores at the high school.

“There has already been changes made at the high school to put more emphasis and make more students more accountable and more aware of what the ACT expectations are,” Curry said.

Curry said the high school is taking advantage of the “response to intervention” program to integrate ACT instruction.

“A major focus of some of the Tribe Time, response to intervention, is now on ACT Prep,” Curry said. “We have ACT practice tests, a ACT question of the week and ACT word of the day.”

Clean-up projects are topic of chamber meeting

Local programs funded through PRIDE (Personal Responsibility In a Desirable Environment) have helped clean up the community and changed attitudes about the environment.

Several leaders involved in PRIDE, including County Judge Executive Ann Melton, talked about its success during the monthly Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday.

Jennifer Johnson, program director at the Somerset office, talked about several projects that have made a difference in Adair County. Education grants help get children outdoors and engaged in taking care of the environment. Clean-up programs help replace septic tanks. Other programs help clean up roadside dumps, provide funding for free tipping days and fund community roadside cleanup projects.

“PRIDE is about changing our habits,” Johnson said.

Lisa Greer, administrative assistant at the county judge’s office and co-coordinator for PRIDE in Adair County, challenged everyone at the meeting to take a harder look at how they recycle at home.

“Fix some cardboard boxes or garbage cans...put everything recyclable in those containers,” she said. “You will be surprised.”

Since Melton took office the county’s recycling center went from being a cost to the county to paying for itself and even showing a small amount of revenue for the past two years, Melton said. She and Greer have visited around 40 classrooms to encourage the next generation to develop good habits that protect the environment.

Greer commented about the amount of garbage that is picked up annually from the roadways.

“It’s a never ending duty to clean up on the sides of the roads,” she said.

Some of the ACT words and questions of the day will be featured on the Newspaper in Education student page beginning next week in the Community Voice. A link to the ACT information on the school’s website can be found on page 12.

Curry said she is also using a planning day in November to look intensely at ACT prep.

Share a kind word or gesture

I was browsing through old news files and ran upon this column I wrote in June 2009.

It seemed to still be appropriate today and I honestly didn't have much on my mind to share with you, so I thought I would reminisce a little. Please forgive me for duplication, but some things never change, like traffic in downtown Columbia and the need to share kindness with others.

I often stop and let cars in front of me when traveling congested areas like Jamestown Street. I never have trouble pulling out from a parking lot and I believe it's because I let others out; it just works out that way.

One day last week, traffic on Jamestown Street was backed up to a screeching halt because of roadwork and, well, because it's Jamestown Street.

I let a car pull out in front of me and noticed the driver in the vehicle behind me became frantic. She was throwing up her hands and probably saying some not very nice things. So I let out another car. Sure enough, she was none too happy.

Vehicles were barely moving. She was in the wrong place if she was in a hurry. In addition, those cars I let out were not going to slow us down more than a minute or two, and that was only if we got caught by a traffic light they made it through.

I was watching her too closely and missed the opportunity to let a car turn in from the opposite direction. So there we sat, in unmoving traffic, and that poor person had to sit while we sat. As we slowly moved forward, the woman behind me chose to not let the car pass in front of her.

I know we are all busy and in a hurry to get somewhere, but life is so much more enjoyable if we take the time to show a little kindness.

Everyone can probably remember a kind word from someone who helped make a day a little brighter. The world would be a much better place if we all made a commitment to make one kind, unexpected gesture each day.

The concept works in business as well. None of us are perfect, but we should strive to show consideration when customers call or visit our establishments. I have walked out of more than one business without making a purchase because I didn't feel welcomed.

I've also made purchases I didn't really need or want because I was impressed with the considerate treatment I received in an establishment.

The point is, we all could use a little more kindness, and we all could give a little more kindness. We're so busy rushing around, we forget what's really important.

Just so you know I practice what I preach, I will use this opportunity to say a kind word to you: thank you readers, for picking up this newspaper and taking the time to read my ramblings. Because you care enough to buy this newspaper, we are able to provide jobs and hopefully touch lives.

USPS picks winners and losers

An editorial from the National Newspaper Association

The newspaper business—both small and large papers—has sounded full-throated opposition this past month about a plan by the U.S. Postal Service to purposely entice advertising out of the newspaper so ads can be placed instead with USPS favored stakeholder Valassis Inc., which bought direct mail company ADVO in 2006.

The goal of USPS is to create more advertising mail. To newspapers that count on advertising to pay its reporters and cover the news, this new venture is beyond alarming. Many think it will push some newspapers—already made fragile by the economy and the Internet—over the edge. If that happens, it is the communities across our country that will feel the most long-term harm.

People have a love-hate relationship with advertising, whether in the newspaper or in the mail. When advertising helps them find deals or shop smartly, they love it. When it doesn't happen to scratch the shopping itch, they may not like it so much. But most people understand advertising drives the economy and it brings other intangible benefits, like paying the bill for news coverage that keeps communities informed.

On every level advertising is highly competitive. Local, regional and nationally, newspapers compete with a growing field of ad media, from Internet to television and door hangers to direct mailers.

But now the Postal Service wants to pick winners and losers in this market. It is providing postage rebates to Valassis of more than 30 percent if Valassis can divert more ad inserts into direct mail from newspapers.

Not everyone can play. The discounts can be offered by Valassis only to large national retailers. Newspapers cannot get the same discount for their own mail because they can't sign one national postage contract, as the direct mail company did, with USPS. Neither can a small clothing or bookstore or a hairdresser or auto parts shop. We—the newspaper and our small businesses—are all local. This deal is only for the big guys.

For the little guys, USPS has another advertising plan that enables businesses to bring unaddressed advertising directly to the post office.

What's wrong with this picture? It is that USPS isn't a business. It is owned by Uncle Sam. It exists to serve all. It shouldn't be picking winners and losers in any marketplace. It shouldn't be competing with and undercutting its stakeholders, which are all of us. It should deliver the mail that exists, promptly and affordably.

One of USPS's big goals is to carry even more advertising, as the Internet saps away letters and bills.

But we have to ask ourselves: does America need a federally-owned advertising service? This newspaper says no.

Have you made your first pot of chili yet? If you haven't already, I'd expect you to in the next few days. It seems like the grocery stores know what they are doing when they stock the chili supplies in the center aisle when the weather turns cooler. I am a fan of potato soup during the fall and winter months. I made my first pot of potato soup earlier this week. It was so good! I asked these four people this question, "What is your favorite food to eat when the weather turns cooler?"

"Candy corn and peanuts."

Brandy McCubbin

Jada Coomer

Indians gets best score of the season

Goodin gets nominated for Athlete of the Year

Adair County shot a 186 against Cumberland and Clinton counties last Thursday, which is the team's best score of the season. Individual scores for Adair County were Ashley Goodin 42, Rachel Phipps 44, Abby Royse 46, and Hailey Taylor a 54, Madison Bell 58 and Lauren McQuaide 71. Cumberland County shot a 196 and Clinton County a 194. Ashley Goodin, far left, won WBKO's Total Fitness Connection's Athlete of the Week for her performance at the Heartland Conference last week. Goodin placed 4th overall with a score of 81. She is now in the running for WBKO's Athlete of the Year.

AGRICULTURE NEWS: Prepare for winter feeding

Nick Roy
Adair County Extension Agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources

Timely rains this month have given pastures another flush of growth. While warm season grasses such as crabgrass and johnson grass are slowing down, conditions for orchard grass and fescue are ideal and their growth will continue into November given timely rains. While hopefully most are several weeks away from having to start feeding hay, here are a few things to consider in the mean time. Make final cutting or grazing of johnson grass prior to frost. Johnson grass is known to accumulate nitrates and prussic acid after a frost; both of which are toxic to livestock. The easiest way to avoid these risks is to harvest prior to frost. Now is a great time to have forages tested to develop the winter feeding plan. After being tested, forages can be allocated based on animal nutrient requirements. Fall calving cows and growing calves need the greatest amount of nutrients and therefore should receive the best quality of forages available. Spring calving cows whose calves have been weaned have the lowest nutrient requirements and may be allocated lower quality hay given their body condition is good. Forage testing can also identify potential shortages of nutrients such as protein, energy, or minerals. If shortages exist, a supplement program can be developed to address the issue. One of the biggest challenges of winter feeding is minimizing hay loss and mud. Hay rings or feeders and a filter fabric pad with a 6-8 inch layer of rock can go a long way in reducing both. Hay losses without feeders can be as high as 30-45 percent. Muddy conditions alone can cause decreases in feed efficiencies of up to 30 percent. Mud around the feeding area makes it difficult for cattle to eat, therefore reducing intake. Cattle in muddy conditions are also observed to eat fewer, but larger meals. The rumen works most efficiently when fed many small meals throughout the day. As steel prices have risen in past years, so have cattle feeders. This has gotten many producers to looking at alternative feeders for cattle. One of the most interesting hay feeders I've seen is made from plastic tubing. While not break-proof, these feeders will not rust. However more ease must be taken when moving and repairs of broken bolts will be needed periodically. If you have an interesting idea for feeding hay or would like more information on winter feeding, contact the Adair County Cooperative Extension Service at 384-2317.

Cattleman's picnic is Monday

The Adair County Cattlemen's Association will hold its annual picnic membership drive on Monday, Sept. 24 at 6 p.m. at the Adair County Fairgrounds. Current members and anyone who would like to become a member of the Adair County Cattlemen's Association is invited to attend. The Adair County Cattlemen's Association consists of 168 members from both the beef and dairy industry of Adair County. Annual activities include field days, quarterly meetings, delegation of the Annual Kentucky Cattlemen's meeting, scholarships for youth, and much more. As a member of the association, cattlemen will have an opportunity to interact and network with other local producers to work together to improve Adair County agriculture.

Kitchen Cupboard

Jennifer Smith comes from a long line of good cooks and people who love to eat. She loves to try new recipes and her favorite is baking. If you have a recipe you would like to share or a cookbook you would like to promote, email Jennifer at jls3070@yahoo.com.

The Kitchen Cupboard is a feature every other week and focuses on recipes and kitchen conversation. Writer Jennifer Smith will feature local recipe books and items from local culinary talents. Send your favorite recipe or food tip to jls3070@yahoo.com. If you wish to have a cookbook promoted, drop off a copy at the Adair County Community Voice at 316 Public Sq.

This little bit of cooler weather has me itching to use the slow cooker I use mine all year long but warm, ready to eat soup when you get home sounds wonderful to me. Soup is so versatile because you can add or subtract from any recipe what your individual tastes are. Happy Eating!

Slow Cooker Chicken Taco Soup

- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 (16 ounce) can chili beans
- 1 (15 ounce) can black beans
- 1 (15 ounce) can whole kernel corn, drained
- 1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
- 1 ½ cups chicken broth
- 2 (10 ounce) cans diced tomatoes with green chilies, undrained
- 1 (1.25 ounce) package taco seasoning
- 3 whole skinless, boneless chicken breasts
- shredded Cheddar cheese (optional)
- sour cream (optional)
- crushed tortilla chips (optional)

Place the onion, chili beans, black beans, corn, tomato sauce, broth, and diced tomatoes in a slow cooker. Add taco seasoning, and stir to blend. Lay chicken breasts on top of the mixture, pressing down slightly until just covered by the other ingredients. Set slow cooker for low heat, cover, and cook for 5 hours. Remove chicken breasts from the soup, and allow to cool long enough to be handled and shredded. Stir the shredded chicken back into the soup, and continue cooking for 2 hours.

Serve topped with shredded Cheddar cheese, a dollop of sour cream, and crushed tortilla chips, if desired.

Amazing Hawaiian Chicken Chili

- 2 pounds skinless, boneless chicken breast
- 1 cup barbeque sauce
- 2 tablespoons butter, divided
- 1 large onion, diced
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 large roasted red pepper, chopped
- 1 (6 ounce) can tomato paste
- 3 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 tablespoon Chile powder
- 1 tablespoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 teaspoon white sugar
- 1 (20 ounce) can pineapple chunks
- 1 (15 ounce) can kidney beans, drained
- 1 (15 ounce) can black beans, drained
- 1 (28 ounce) can chopped tomatoes, drained
- 1 (24 ounce) jar chipotle salsa
- salt and pepper to taste

Mix the chicken and barbeque sauce together first and then throw everything else in (except the pineapple) and cook on low all day. Cut the pineapple chunks into smaller pieces if desired or use pineapple tidbits and add the last hour before serving.

CHAPTER TWO

“I can’t imagine what’s in the box,” Chloe said as we drove home from our appointment with Doc Albert. “Maybe it’s a bottle of pills or vitamins,” I suggested. “I thought about that, Woody,” Chloe said, “but Doc has never put our medicine in a big cardboard box and told us to wait until we get home to open it.” Chloe had a point. Judging from the way Mom and Dad were looking at each other, I knew they were stumped, too. “Maybe it’s an exercise video to help us get in shape,” Chloe offered. “Maybe it’s a treadmill,” I said, hoping I was wrong. “Why are you giggling?” I asked Chloe, Mom and Dad. “I was remembering the time you turned the treadmill up too fast and you flew across the room,” Chloe said, her giggling turning to laughter. “Do you remember that, Woody?” How could I forget? I started out running on all fours, and the next thing I knew I was doing somersaults in the air and landed smack-dab on the head of the lady riding the stationary bicycle. It knocked the cuckoo out of me. And her too! Everyone roared with laughter. “Anyway, the box isn’t that big and heavy,” Dad said. “There are hundreds of ways to exercise without equipment, videos or gym memberships,” pups,” Mom told us. “We can exercise in our back yard.” “Really?” Chloe and I asked at the same time. “Sure,” Dad replied. “We can play tug-of-war, fetch or could go for a walk.” “Without our leashes?” I asked, hopeful. “You know the rules. You have to walk with your collar and leash. It’s for your safety,” Mom explained. Chloe and I looked at each other, and I saw my sister raise her eyebrow as if to say, “At least we tried.” Once in a while we were able to play outside without our leashes, but only if we were in a fenced-in area. I didn’t like it, but I knew it was for our safety. Once we were home, Dad carried in the box and placed it on the living room floor. Then he opened the box that contained the recipe to our wellness. Rx for Woody, Chloe,

Mom and Dad Congratulations! The four of you are enrolled in Kentucky Boot Camp. The trainers of boot camp will provide all the information. Each envelope contains a prescription. When you finish completing the task, you are to open the next envelope contained in this box. “Kentucky Boot Camp?” I said, interrupting before Dad finished reading the instructions. “I’ve never heard of Kentucky boots, and I can’t imagine why they need their own camp. Soccer camp? Basketball camp? Band camp? Sure! But boot camp? Seriously?”

“Woody,” Dad said as he laughed and shook his head. “Boot camp normally refers to military training, but it can also refer to any type of training activity where people are trying to get in shape. I’m assuming Kentucky Boot Camp is a program to help people get in physical shape while they explore various parts of Kentucky. Do you mind if I keep reading?” Dad asked while everyone giggled. If you follow the directions on your prescription exactly as it says, you will lower your cholesterol, blood sugar, lose any excess weight and feel better. The best part is you won’t have to swallow nasty medicine or endure any painful shots. Boot camp won’t be easy. Remember, you didn’t develop unhealthy habits in one day and you won’t develop healthy habits in one day. You’ll be finished with your medicine when you have opened every envelope and completed each activity. When you finish reading this letter, open the envelope labeled Rx 1. Good luck! Doc Mom reached in the box, retrieved the envelope labeled Rx 1 and read it aloud. “Pack your backpack for camp. You’ll need loose-fitting clothing, comfortable walking shoes, sunscreen and lots of water. No electronics are permitted, but one cell phone per family is allowed. You’ll meet your first camp trainer, Sam, in the morning at Exit 33 off the Mountain Parkway. Be there at 8 a.m. sharp!” No electronics, no sleeping in tomorrow morning! Yucky medicine was looking better all the time. Stay tuned next week for chapter 3.

QUESTIONS

1. Woody thought the Rx box contained a treadmill or other exercise equipment. Search your local newspaper. Make a list of all the exercise equipment that is for sale. Make sure you list the asking price of the equipment. Add the costs for all the exercise equipment you found in the newspaper. If every person in your class joined together and purchased it, how much would each person have to pay?
2. Woody learned there are many ways to exercise without joining an exercise gym. Make a list of 5 ways to exercise without a gym or equipment. Start to do one of these activities every day. Email Woody at woody@the-woodybooks.com and give him suggestions.
3. Use the computer and explore regions in Kentucky and find 3-4 things you did not already know. <http://www.kentuckytourism.com/explore/regions.aspx>
4. Use the computer and view a video about what Woody and Chloe might do in Kentucky to get fit. www.kentuckytourism.com/photos_videos/videos.aspx
5. Doc Albert told Woody that he had developed bad eating habits but he could overcome them. What are some bad eating habits you have? (too many cookies after dinner?) How can you overcome them? What are some good habits you practice?
6. Doc Albert told the family they needed to take Mountain Parkway. Using your Kentucky map (a map can be found on the weather page of some newspapers) where is Mountain Parkway? Does it run east/west or north/south? How many miles long is the Mountain Parkway?
7. While you have your Kentucky map open, list 3 towns that are located near the Mountain Parkway.
8. Guess what town you think the family will be meeting the trainer? What activity do you predict they will do? Email Woody at woody@the-woodybooks.com and tell him your predictions. Check your email for Woody's reply. Also, log on to www.the-woodybooks.com and read his blog. You may see your emails on his blog.
9. Got a scrapbook? Make sure you cut out Chapter 2 and paste it in your scrapbook. Don't have a scrapbook? Contact your local newspaper.
10. Look at the illustration in today's chapter. Write a paragraph about what you see. Read it aloud to someone. And hear Woody read every Unleashed chapter by going to www.the-woodybooks.com or www.kypress.com.

Public Record Notice

The Adair County Community Voice publishes all grand jury indictments, drug and alcohol related traffic, misdemeanors, felonies, circuit-criminal cases and shock probations.

The year of offense on each charge listed in Circuit and District Court is listed in parenthesis after all of the charges have been listed.

Also, all land transfers, occupational licenses, marriages, divorces filed and restaurant and food service/retail inspections are published.

Call 384-9454 for the following requests: A divorce is published when it is filed. Withdrawn divorces will be published at the petitioner's request.

The Voice makes every effort to publish court records accurately. However, if you feel an error has been made, contact our office at 384-9454.

Adair overcomes deficit in big district win

The Adair County Indian football team has been firing on all cylinders lately racking up wins.

A 37-16 win over Hart County this past Friday night extended Adair's winning streak to four games and served as a reminder of the team's dominance of late.

The 21-point victory, the closest game during the winning streak for the Indians, was a monumental one for Head Coach Travis Gay's program.

After going 0-4 in the district in his first season, last Friday night's game was the first district win for the Indians during Gay's tenure.

Adair's chances of winning four in a row looked in jeopardy, however, after they trailed 8-0 in the first quarter. It was the first time the Indians had trailed since their opening-week loss. Gay thinks the team will benefit from having the opportunity to dig themselves out of a hole like this.

"Any time you have an experience and learn from it, it's a good thing," Gay said. "We hadn't really been put in that situation much this year, and our kids responded just the way they should have. I was really impressed with the way the team battled."

Adair was able to overcome their deficit in part because of the performance of senior running back Derek Grant. Grant rushed for 237 yards and 3 touchdowns on 28 attempts for 8.5 yards per carry.

Grant, who did not play in the team's first game, now has 620 yards and 12 touchdowns on the season for an average of 155 yards and 3 touchdowns per game.

On defense, Gay was impressed with the efforts of both sophomore Dakota Price, who forced a fumble, and junior Gerard Smith, who recovered a fumble.

The four-game winning streak is also the most for any Adair team since 2003. If the Indians are able to extend that streak tomorrow night against Bethlehem, it will be only the second five-game winning streak for Adair since 1993.

The Indians will play the 4-1 Bethlehem Eagles at home tomorrow night. Homecoming festivities will take place during half-time of the game.
